

Hello,

For several years now many museums and other heritage institutions have digitised their collections and made them accessible to the public. They offer online visitors the opportunity to browse through their digital collections and sometimes even to share, download, reuse their sources, also in creative ways. Our research project "Curating Digital Images" aims to investigate how digital collection users look for and handle museum's digital images for their personal purposes, as well as what they look for.

Do you use Europeana.eu? and are interested in helping by talking to project researcher Katharina Geis about your everyday use and "curation" of images from museums' digital collections or virtual museums? Then please consider participating in our survey: <https://survey.sogosurvey.com/r/vbK0Ng>

Alternatively you can contact Katharina by mail: katharina.geis@hu-berlin.de

Thank you and we are looking forward to hearing from you!
